

25 Signs That The Hospital Food Isn't Edible

(: medicine is fun again :)™

GiggleMed.com

25 Signs That The Hospital Food Isn't Edible

1. It has the word "medley" in its name.
2. When the nurse discards the leftover food she puts some food items in the red biohazard bag and some in the sharps container.
3. You are asked to sign a consent form before meals.
4. The GI doc drives a gold-plated Hummer®.
5. Skinny mice.
6. There is a stream of rats that always run away from the hospital.
7. When the tray flips over, the "food" does not leave the tray.
8. The workers delivering your food are wearing full body suits.
9. Your roommate's geiger counter goes crazy when lunch is delivered.
10. When patients being readmitted are asking to be NPO.
11. The average BMI for hospital employees is less than 25.
12. EMTs and police officers decline when offered "refreshments".

13. Every table in the cafeteria is equipped with three emesis basins.
14. The hospital menu is on the same page as the drugs used for chemo.
15. The healthiest thing on the menu is the menu.
16. Nurses and respiratory therapists eat their cigarette butts .
17. The autoclaves are in the kitchen.
18. Infection control, environmental services, and cafeteria personnel all have the same uniforms.
19. Scrub techs leave the OR with doggie bags.
20. Tonight's dinner is prep for tomorrow's colonoscopy.
21. Homeland Security raises the terror warning to orange on hospital trash days.
22. Discharge planning includes a GI cocktail and serial enemas.
23. Your HMO pays for you to order out.
24. When patients use the bathroom it sounds like someone is torturing a wookiee.
25. Kids in the pediatric wards are foraging for lice.

...more in GiggleMed.com's Member Section

© GiggleMed.com, LLC

GiggleMed.com is the online leader in health care humor with jokes, parody, bloopers, and gifts for doctors, nurses, patients, EMTs, administrators, pharmacists, drug reps, techs, and more.

Our mission is to relieve burnout among health care professionals, so they can better care for you.

GiggleMed.com

GiggleMed.com

(: medicine is fun again :)™

© GiggleMed.com, LLC

©GiggleMed.com, LLC. All rights reserved.

Asystole is a stable rhythm is a trademark of GiggleMed.com, LLC.